

In the Nation, pets always get treats-not tricks

Halloween frights should come from scary movies and little ghouls at your door-not from your pets.

Pet emergency hotlines see a 12% increase in call volume during Halloween week, making it their busiest time of year. Don't let a pet emergency haunt you this All Hallows' Eve; a few simple precautions can keep spooky fun from turning into a scary night at the vet's office.

Make pet safety a priority this Howl-o-ween

Learn about Halloween pet dangers and how you can keep your pets safe. The Fun and Foe infographic from VPI®/Nationwide® has tips and advice all pet owners can use.

Download Halloween Fun and Foe.pdf

Vet bills don't have to be scary

VPI/Nationwide is the smart choice for pet owners who want to manage vet bills the easy way. Plus, all members have free, 24/7 access to vethelpline for guidance on any pet health concern ($170 value).

Get a free, no-obligation quote today at www.PetsVPI.com or 877-PETS-VPI.